"Freight Audit can help with operational improvements. For example, you can look at certain cost types, like detention. Then within that data you can look at detention per carrier, or per site. Armed with this information you can decide if there are deviations and if you need to take action to reduce waiting times."

– Stefanie Bergfeld, Director Audit and Settlement Tribe, Transporeon

"Our customers can launch tenders at lightning speed. There is no data crunching, no guessing and no wondering what happens where and when. It's all there in front of you. You just open it, look into it, and you can see exactly what is going on."

– Dirk Grewenig, Global Account Director, Transporeon
